BACKGROUND

In a world defined by immediacy and mass tourism, slow tourism emerges as an alternative that invites travelers to rediscover the essence of travel, prioritizing quality over quantity and fostering a deeper connection with culture, nature, and local communities. Its sustainable approach enables more authentic experiences, boosts the local economy, and helps preserve the environment. Moreover, it addresses the need for mindful travel, promoting well-being and reflection. In this context, CIFAL Málaga and Abdelmalek Essadi University have developed a training program for students interested in sustainable tourism within the framework of the Mediterranean Sustainability Observatory.
