This event convenes a vibrant and diverse gathering of international delegates, high-level experts, artists, and cultural representatives, all driven by a collective vision to advance the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals through meaningful dialogue, strategic cooperation, and the reaffirmation of shared human values. At the intersection of policy and creativity, the program places a strong emphasis on the vital role that cultural exchange, artistic expression, and intercultural understanding play in fostering unity across borders and disciplines.

By spotlighting the arts as a universal language capable of transcending linguistic, and social barriers, the event highlights culture not merely as a complement to development efforts, but as a central pillar in shaping innovative and inclusive global solutions. Through performances, conversations, and collaborative initiatives, this gathering seeks to inspire action, deepen international partnerships, and reaffirm the critical importance of global solidarity in building a more peaceful, equitable, and sustainable future for all.

Only individuals with UNHQ Grounds passes will be able to participate in this program.
